

ABSTRACT

A plurality of option value prices are determined for employee stock options. An average stock price corresponding to a particular one of the plurality of option value prices is determined. The employee stock option is exchanged for the value. The terms of the 5 employee stock option are amended and the option is transferred to a third party in exchange for a value. The third party hedges the amended options.